

The Housing Within Reach Partnership Presents:

Next Steps for Affordable Housing

This series of three workshops is designed to help housing professionals make sense of the myriad policy changes taking place in Miami-Dade County. Housing professionals and advocates are focused on the need for a comprehensive, effective plan to create and fill the community's affordable housing demands. The recommendations created through the CAHSA process provide a good roadmap for systemic change, and in this series we will explore how to move these recommendations to action.

The mission of the Housing Within Reach Partnership is to assure that housing is within the reach of all Miami Dade county residents, by increasing public understanding of housing issues and their impact on the entire community; attracting more public and private funding to improve and increase the housing stock and improve the housing delivery system; and streamlining the housing development process and public access to information. We do this through collecting data on housing information; developing policy recommendations; educating the public about our findings; holding local leaders and agencies accountable; and advocating on local, state, and national legislation, regulations, funding and policies.
